The Trouble with Artificial Intelligence

Artificial Intelligence, or A.I. for short, has ①had an effect on news and entertainment. Now we have to worry when we are reading news online that it may not be real news at all. The news story we are reading might have been a story created ②(____) A.I.

In one recent news article, a famous television star in America ③(name) Stephan Colbert was going to start his own media company. There was a photo of Stephan attached to the story. The photo showed Stephan in front of his new company logo. ④(who / excited / Stephan / were / people / very / like) about the news. The news story was shared all over social media by his fans. The article originally came from a small news website ⑤that usually just shares news stories from other more famous (and trustworthy) news sites such as CNN.

The trouble was that the story was not real. ⑥(completely / it / written / by / A.I / was). Even the attached photo was not real. It was also created by A.I. It was completely not true, but millions of Stephan's fans believed it. He had to do many interviews with people to prove it was not true.

In the future, it might be very hard for us to know what is true and what is just a story that was made up by A.I.

Dear Mr. Messi,

My name is Jimmy McGill. I am writing this letter to you from the London Museum. We have a display showing famous trophies from around the world. We have famous trophies from baseball, golf, and even a Grammy for best new singer. We would like to add the Best FIFA Men's Player trophy to our collection. We hope that because you have three first place trophies, and two other second place trophies, you would be willing to sell us one of them. We are offering 30,000 British Pounds. Of course, we are also willing to negotiate. Please contact me directly at jiimymc@londonmuseum.edu if you are interested in our offer. I hope I get a reply from you soon.

Sincerely,

Jimmy McGill
